Mountains Move

Achieving Social Cohesion in a Multicultural Society
Steve Bell
PB: 9781788932189 £12.99

Society is made up of various cultural groups trying to live together. We aim for social cohesion, but how do we do this as society becomes increasingly complex, aided and abetted by political correctness?

Steve Bell peels back the complex layers of our multicultural society to reveal the inner workings of our national life. Using the metaphor of a mountain range, he identifies the major obstacles to meaningful and mutually respectful interaction between Christians and Muslims and encourages intelligent Christian engagement with western culture.

It seems mountains can move, but only when grace and truth are involved in all spheres of society, as fair-minded people of all faiths and none, learn to model the necessary attitude and actions.

'The topography of Steve Bell's "mountains" is enlightening and humbling. There is a steep but rewarding learning curve here for those longing for a more honest and humble witness to Muslim friends.' Revd Dr Chris Wright, Director of Langham Partnership, scholar, author and speaker

Drawing on his own personal experiences of losing his daughter and his own battle with cancer, Goff shares how holding on to the Christian hope of an eternal future transformed the darkest moments of his life. Exploring the biblical teaching of heaven, Goff reveals why a robust belief in eternity is fundamental to living well with suffering today.

Goff Hope has been a leader at King's Community Church, Norwich for over 30 years and is involved in the training of leaders within the Newfrontiers network.

The Kingdom of God

Understanding the Greatest Show on Earth
 Richard Porter
 PB: 9781788931694 £14.99

Using the analogy of God as the director of the greatest show on earth, Richard Porter shows how the kingdom of God is the overarching story line throughout the Bible. Each scene, from the people of Israel to Jesus and the early church, reveals kingdom truths that impact the church today.

Richard Porter has taught Old Testament and Biblical Background subjects at Nazarene Theological College and Belfast Bible College.

The Good God

Michael Reeves
 PB: 9781842277447 £9.99

In this lively and refreshing book, we find an accessible introduction to the profound beauty of the Trinity. With wit and clarity, Reeves draws from notable teachers from church history to the present to reveal how the Christian life is rooted in the triune God: Father, Son and Spirit. Be encouraged to grow in enjoyment of God and see how God's triune being makes all his ways beautiful.

Michael Reeves is President of the Union School of Theology, teaching in the areas of systematic and historical theology. He is Director of the European Theologians Network, and was previously Head of Theology for UCCF.

Heroes or Villains?
Jeannie Kendall
PB: 9781788932981 £10.99

The reality is that we all have the potential for great good and disastrous moral failure. Through imaginatively retelling the stories of Bible characters, Jeannie Kendall shares profound insights on human nature that can help us make better choices in our lives. By understanding our own complexities, we can fully experience the lavish way in which God loves us as we are.

Jeannie Kendall is a Baptist minister. She is a former Spurgeon's College president and currently teaches on their Pastoral Supervision course.

A Year With Michael Green

Stephen Poxon
PB: 9781788933100 £17.99

Michael Green's robust approach to biblical studies and theology, combined with a personal warmth and a knack for making deep truths accessible, makes him ideal company to spend a year with in devotional reflection.

There is a passage of Scripture, a meditation by Michael taken from his writings and a short prayer for each day of the year.

Stephen Poxon is a freelance writer who has compiled many devotional books. Stephen combines an editor's eye with a heart of faith.

The Christing

Mining the Bible to Reveal the Extravagant Anointing of the Holy Spirit
Paul White
PB: 9781788931731 £9.99

The Holy Spirit is the Spirit of Jesus. The awesome power of this 'Christing' is to get the life-giving, oppression-busting, freedom-bringing life of Jesus into the whole world, starting right where we live.

Take a gallop through the scriptures with Paul White and discover the different images used to describe the Holy Spirit. In a fresh and conversational style, peppered with personal stories and the author's own illustrations, you will see how the same dynamic power of God seen throughout the Bible is still available to us today.

Be encouraged to live in a deep, passionate relationship with Jesus. Get ready to release the 'Christing'!

The Church Who Hears God's Voice
Equipping Everyone to Recognise and Respond to the Spirit
Revd Dr Tania Harris
PB: 9781788932462 £14.99

As the central feature of the Spirit's outpouring at Pentecost and the grand prize of the New Covenant, the prospect of universal access to the Spirit is a powerful but pastorally risky concept. Drawing on insights from theology, sociology and her groundbreaking PhD research, Harris skilfully presents a comprehensive theology and pastoral strategy for how the church, whatever the tradition, can hear the Spirit's voice for themselves.

Revd Dr Tania Harris is a pastor, speaker, author, practical theologian and the founder of God Conversations, a global ministry that equips people to recognise and respond to God's voice.

Entertaining Angels

Living Well With Autism as a Family, in Society and in Church
Cavan Wood
PB: 9781788930734 £14.99

Cavan distils autism information in an accessible way that will help support families facing a diagnosis. Recognising that all people are made in the image of God, Entertaining Angels provides practical tips on creating inclusive and transformative communities where all are valued and welcomed, and offers a theology of autism.

Cavan Wood, a parent of an autistic child, is a teacher living in West Sussex.
